HMI Operator panels & Supervision

The interface between operator and machine are of highest priority. Here one should be able to run, monitor and troubleshoot the equipment with the ability to get both an overview as well as detailed information about all ongoing activities. We have always chosen to pay extra attention and focus to our HMI applications to assure the sense of confidence and total control.

In a larger context where one has responsibility for operating or supervising multiple machines, maybe a whole line, you might need to build a control room with central control and supervision.

We work with well-known suppliers like Siemens, Rockwell, Beijer and Wonderware products for local and centralized control.
